

Download Occupational Therapy Home Program Format

For those of you who aren't using Pinterest, all you need to do is create a free account and simply start searching for "occupational therapy home exercise programs," "Theraputty hand exercises," "older adult home exercises," and so on for a solid amount of resources from multiple sources. Home programs vary depending on a child's individual needs and the programs can address a variety of different skills. Below is a description of some common occupational therapy home program activities, as well as their purpose as it relates to your child's treatment plan. Our Home Exercise Program is a simple yet powerful solution to effectively and efficiently treat your patients. Save time creating and documenting programs, while improving your quality of care. Quickly create programs with smart search, drag & drop functionality, and program template tools. Doctor of Occupational Therapy Program is a 90 credit hour program, best for the practicing therapist who wants to upgrade their knowledge and interested in research. The OTD course is offered in a blended format with both online and face-to-face learning.